In the heart of our campaign this year lies a deeply personal sentiment: "This is our village." This theme honours the unique communities we each belong to, made up of our immediate family, extended relatives, and cherished friends. These are the people whose lives have been touched by chronic disease or major illness, often directly supported by the impactful work of one or more of our 17 member charities. As we rally together for this cause, we are reminded of the profound importance of our efforts. We are not just raising funds; we are embodying the very message we champion daily—creating a healthier future for all Canadians. This campaign is a testament to our commitment, echoing the support and resilience of the villages we hold dear. Together, we are making a difference.
